

Candid Software Awarded the Best Ecommerce Development Company Award for December 2013

Summary –Candid Software has been awarded the Best Ecommerce Development Company for December 2013 by BestWebDesignAgencies.com. The company is recognized for offering custom ecommerce development backed by robust business strategy and advanced technologies.

Candid Software has continued their award-winning spree in December as well. The company has been announced the Best Ecommerce Development Company for December 2013 by BestWebDesignAgencies.com, an independent research organization providing evaluation and rankings of the web design and development services providers since 2008.

Talking about the importance of the award, a senior executive with the company commented, "Best Web Design Agencies is the independent authority that gives rankings to web design agencies located in the US, UK, Canada, Australia and India. Their evaluation criterion is rigorous and it is certainly an achievement to get counted by them and be put at the top."

Typical ecommerce solutions the company offers maximize profit and increase conversions for businesses. Candid Software offers custom ecommerce development backed by robust business strategy and advanced technologies. Their team works closely with the clients to ensure the website is in sync with the objectives one has set for the business. Thanks to the consistent quality the company offers, they have accumulated clients across the world and earned a reputation for professional service.

Ecommerce development team of Candid Software can work on existing websites or build a new one from scratch. As the executive said, "We ensure for a pleasing online experience that translates into more conversions. Moreover, we have the track record of completing the projects handed out to use in a timely fashion. We make sure of keeping to the standards in terms of delivery and approach, coming up with innovative styles and ideas to develop ecommerce websites."

Ecommerce solutions of Candid Software include fully customizable storefront, multi-device compatibility, insightful analytics and reporting, and secured and seamless order processing. Know more here about their solutions. Features on ecommerce websites include promotional tools, catalog management, order management, effortless shipping and secure payment gateway. Visit Candidinfo.com for more information on their ecommerce development services.

“ We ensure for a pleasing online experience that translates into more conversions. Moreover, we have the track record of completing the projects handed out to use in a timely fashion. ”

About the Company:

Founded in 1999, New Delhi based Candid Software is engaged in providing top standards offshore web development services. As a reputable company, they are committed to provide ecommerce development services that exceed the industry standards. Click here to find how they manage to come true on clients' expectations every time. They make sure the clients derive the maximum returns from the investment they put in. Get more info about the company on their website.

Contact Information

Candid Software

A - 82 Sector - 4,

Noida

201301

Phone: +91-9953139234, +91-120-6473344

Email: sales\(at\)candidinfo\(dot\)comcandidinfo(dot)com)

Website: <http://www.candidinfo.com/>